

The background of the image shows the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor. The statue is partially obscured by the text overlay. The water in the foreground is dark and choppy. The sky is overcast and grey. An American flag is visible on the right side of the image.

September 11, 2001 will forever be a painful wound in the history of the United States of America. Since that tragic day our nation has moved forward with determination and confidence, as we continue to rebuild and heal. The search for justice to honor all those heroes who lost their lives that day is an awesome burden that cannot be abandoned. Their memories encourage and inspire us. Each day teaches us that there will be another day filled with even more hope, greater possibilities, new challenges and unexpected opportunities to fashion a stronger, safer future for America.

Sheriff Charlie Ray Fox, Jr.